Patrons Message

Hippocrates had acknowledged the importance of food in prevention of disease centuries ago. Nevertheless, the acknowledgement of clinical nutrition is a relatively recent phenomenon and to make up for the lost time, the pace of development in this domain has been extraordinarily rapid. Today, there is an overwhelming amount of scientific evidence to support the role of proper diet as the new medicine paradigm and furthermore, to address the burgeoning demands of disease, it is the responsibility of the entire medical fraternity to stay ahead of the curve. Apollo Hospitals has been at the forefront of battling disease within the hospitals and is increasingly taking the battle outside the physical realm of a hospital environment.

At Apollo Hospitals, our Clinical Nutrition teams work closely with the Clinical teams to bring together evidence-based care along with our signature Ingredient, TLC (Tender Loving Care) in helping patients battle the disease harder and faster.

In an advancing medical landscape, dietitians will play a greater role than ever before and therefore it is critical that they continuously stay abreast of global trends and development in the field. The Clinical Nutrition Update is an annual event which addresses aspects of patient care at hospitals and also that of hospital-based nutritional intervention. In the Scientific Programme of this Update, Doctors and Dietitians will address medical and nutritional requirements of different clinical conditions. The event faculty includes distinguished National and International Physicians, Surgeons, Paediatricians, Intensivists, Dietitians and Clinical Nutritionists, experts in the field.

The 6th Apollo International Clinical Nutrition Update is an effort to augment the knowledge of the Dietitians by sharing the evidence-based best practices in Clinical nutrition, by exchange of ideas and knowledge between different disciplines.

We do hope that all the participants harness the immense knowledge that this forum brings forth in addressing the ever increasing and changing demands on the clinical dietitian's expertise.
